HERCMA Trade Shows 'Technology Village' a huge success!

Park & Marine Wireless Networks, Europe's leading provider of Wireless Connectivity solutions to the leisure industry, today confirmed that the Hull and Beaulieu HERCMA trade shows 'Park Technology Villages' were very successful despite the wet weather in Hull!

Peter Mroch of Park & Marine commented "we are extremely pleased with the response we have had to the Park Technology Village concept. Everybody we talked to during the show thought the idea was great, bringing together a number suppliers and ideas all under one roof". Peter went on to say "despite the weather on the first day we made lots of new contacts, talked to a number of our existing customers and spent time developing relationships with other suppliers. Altogether a good show for us"

David Ritchie of Teamwork Professionals, organisers of the HERCMA trade shows had this to say "we really liked the concept of the 'Park Technology Village' at the show. It allowed us to put a number of technology based suppliers together in one place, giving park owners a lot of ideas in a single location" He further commented "we were also really pleased that Park & Marine provided a temporary WiFi network for exhibitors and visitors to use, which proved to be very popular indeed".
